Subjects

Abducens nerve:

Localizing value of concurrent sixth nerve paresis and postganglionic Horner's syndrome, Myles WM et al, 39-42

Acetazolamide:

Effect of timolol vs. acetazolamide on sodium hyaluronate-induced rise in intraocular pressure after cataract surgery, Duperré J et al, 182-186

Acetylsalicylic acid: See Aspirin

Acquired immunodeficiency syndrome:

Management of retinal detachments secondary to cytomegalovirus retinitis, Ross WH et al, 129-133

Acute comitant esotropia: See Esotropia

Adduction deficit: See Oculomotor muscles

Adenoviruses, human:

Adenoviral keratoconjunctivitis precipitating Stevens-Johnson syndrome, Hodge WG et al, 198-200

Admission tests, routine: See Diagnostic tests, routine

Adrenergic beta receptor blockers:

Ocular timolol levels after drug withdrawal: an experimental model, Trope GE et al, 217-219

Adult:

Diagnosis of congenital syphilis in adults presenting with interstitial keratitis, Probst LE et al, 77-80

Age-related macular degeneration: See Macular degeneration

AIDS: See Acquired immunodeficiency syndrome

Allied health personnel:

The XXVIIth International Congress of Ophthalmology — an event to remember [E], Simpson ER, 57-60

alpha fetoproteins:

Congenital orbital teratoma: a clinicopathological case report including immunohistochemical staining, Assalian A et al, 30-33

Ammaurosis fugax: See Blindness

Amikacin:

Treatment of Mycobacterium chelonae keratitis with amikacin, doxycycline and topical ciprofloxacin, Probst LE et al, 81-84

Anesthesia, conduction:

Dacryocystorhinostomy in elderly patients: regional anesthesia without cocaine, Kratky V et al, 13-16

Vocal cord paralysis with Nadbath facial block, Birt CM et al, 231-233

Anesthesia, local:

Dacryocystorhinostomy in elderly patients: regional anesthesia without cocaine, Kratky V et al, 13-16

Anesthesia, regional: See Anesthesia, conduction

Angiography:

Chronic benign retinal pigment epithelial detachment: a subtype of central serous choroidopathy, Lachapelle K et al, 70-72

Aniridia:

Variability of iris defects in autosomal dominant aniridia, Pearce WG, 25-29

Anterior eye segment:

Anterior segment ischemia in giant cell arteritis, Birt CM et al, 93-94

Antiemetics:

Antiemetic prophylaxis for strabismus surgery, Splinter W et al, 224-226

Aphakia:

Epikeratophakia for correction of complicated aphakia, Francis C et al, 17-21

Aqueous flare: See Iris diseases

See also Ciliary body

Arcus senilis:

Unilateral corneal arcus and ocular hypotony, Capoferri C et al, 155-156

- Crohn disease:
 Subconjunctival nodules: an unusual ocular complication of Crohn's disease, Grewal RK et al, 238-239

Cryotherapy:

Conjunctivalization of lid skin following cryotherapy for trichiasis, Kavalec CC et al, 143-145

Cyclic esotropia: See Esotropia

Cylindroma: See Carcinoma, adenoid cystic

Cysticercosis:

Cysticercosis of the orbit, Myles WM et al, 291-294

Cytomegalovirus retinitis:

Management of retinal detachments secondary to cytomegalovirus retinitis, Ross WH et al, 129-133

Dacryocystitis:

Nasolacrimal obstruction in two patients with chronic lymphocytic leukemia, Munro S et al, 137-140

Dacryocystorhinostomy:

Dacryocystorhinostomy in elderly patients: regional anesthesia without cocaine, Kratky V et al, 13-16

Dark adaptation:

Duchenne muscular dystrophy: negative scotopic bright-flash electroretinogram and normal dark adaptation, Tremblay F et al, 280-283

Delayed-action preparations:

Depot drug delivery system for 5-fluorouracil after filtration surgery in the rabbit, Trope GE et al, 263-267

Depot preparations: See Delayed-action preparations

Depth perception:

The role of stereopsis and early postoperative alignment in long-term surgical results of intermittent exotropia, Beneish R et al, 119-124

Descemet's membrane:

Posterior stromal changes following acute corneal hydrops in keratoconus, Bains RA et al, 22-24

Diagnostic imaging:

Ultrasound biomicroscopic features of pigmentary glaucoma, Pavlin CJ et al, 187-192

Diagnostic tests:

Oh, let's just do this simple test!, Myles WM et al, 43-44

Diagnostic tests, routine:
